

Report on beneficial owners

A beneficial owner is a natural person under whose authority a legal person is. A natural person is regarded to have authority over a legal person when they have

- 1) more than 25% of the number of votes produced by stocks and shares, and this number of votes is based on ownership, membership, articles of association, partnership agreement or similar rules or other contract; or
- 2) the right to appoint or dismiss the majority of members of a company or an organisation, or of a similar body or a body which has the corresponding right, and the right is based on similar aspects as the number of votes referred to in Section 1 above.

A beneficial owner may exercise their authority either directly or indirectly via one or several companies.

By virtue of the European Commission Regulation (EU) No 389/2013, the Energy Authority must identify the beneficial owner when a company requests the opening of a person holding account, a trading account or a person holding account in the national KP registry.

The organisation requesting the opening of an account must submit this form to provide a report of the beneficial owners. However, the obligation to submit the report does not apply to companies or corporations whose securities are subject to public trading as laid down in the Securities Markets Act (746/2012) or similar public trading in another EEA state. Furthermore, the obligation to submit the report does not apply to companies or corporations whose securities are subject to similar public trading in another EEA state, provided that the company or corporation is subject to an obligation to provide information that corresponds to the obligation to provide information as laid down in the Directive on markets in financial instruments.

INSTRUCTIONS: Please list the beneficial owners of your organisation ("organisation requesting the opening of an account") in the table below. Please note that the status of beneficial owner may also apply via another organisation.
